Let's Start!

What time does the plane leave? Is this the right counter?

Learning Outcome

Accurately use information involving apologies, thanks, suggestions and invitations in communicative situations.

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about air travel.
- I can ask for and spell names.
- I can identify and manage misunderstandings.

Ask your partner:

- How do you react when something is wrong?
- Do you think traveling is stressful?

Let's Explore!

Sally is having problems at the ticket counter! Seriously? Let's find out!

* You use "Seriously?" when you are surprised and don't understand something.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Sally: Is this the American Airways counter?
Ticket Agent: Yes. How may I help you?
Sally: I need to check in. My flight is leaving soon!
Ticket Agent: Don't worry, Miss. We are still waiting for a few passengers.
Sally: Oh good. Here are my suitcases.
Ticket Agent: May I have your last name, please?
Sally: Sure. It's Davis.
Ticket Agent: One moment please ... I'm sorry, Miss. You are not on the passenger list.
Sally: I beg your pardon? There must be a misunderstanding!
Ticket Agent: I don't have anyone under the name Harris.
Sally: No! Davis!
Ticket Agent: How do you spell that?
Sally: Seriously? It's D-A-V-I-S. Flight AMA701 to Paris!
Ticket Agent: Oh, there you are! You are on flight AMA702! It leaves in 30 minutes. You should hurry!
Sally: This is so stressful ... Is there a stopover?
Ticket Agent: No, it's a direct flight. Take the fast lane. Follow this ticket agent.

Let's Practice!

What is Sally's flight number?

Instructions: Select the correct answer.

1. Which flight does Sally want to check in for?

- a. Flight AMA701
- b. Flight AMA702
- c. Flight AMA703

3. The flight ...

- a. is direct.
- b. has one stopover.
- c. has two stopovers.

2. Which flight does the ticket agent say Sally is on?

Learning Points

Dealing With Misunderstandings

When you don't understand what someone says, be polite when you ask them to repeat. You can use the Simple Present tense.

When you correct a misunderstanding, stress the words you need the person to hear.

Identifying a Misunderstanding	Managing a Misunderstanding
I beg your pardon? There must be a misunderstanding.	May I have your name, please? How do you spell that? One moment, please. Oh, there you are!
